Writer Gets Award for Gentle Story

Novelist is the Fifth American Winner of Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden W-Ernest Hemingway, who brought clipped clarity to a generation of American letters with savage tales of gulls, bitterness and bravery, today won the 1954 Nobel Prize for literature with his gentle story of a noble old man and a fish.

His short, quiet tale titled "The Old Man and the Sea," convinced the Swedish Academy of Literature Hemingway merited the coveted award because of the "idealistic tendencies" of his new work, where for years it had by-passed his powerful stories.

In announcing their decision the in modern literary art, style-making mastership, lately demonstrated in "The Old Man and the Sea." The 56-year-old he-man novelist became the fifth American winner in the half-century since the Nobel

Four from HTHS Attend Student Council Conference

Four members of the HTHS Student Council attended a confer-ence held Oct. 23 at Wood River. Thirty nine 'schools' councils, from Wood River to Cairo, were represented at this meeting. Guest speaker for the conference was Dr. E. B. Lewis who spoke on "The Rights of Others." Pat Pollard, from Carmi who is the state president of the student councils was also present and councils, was also present and spoke to the students.

Discussion groups were also carried on concerning student council relationships with the school and the public. Charles Polk, HTHS Student Council president, led one of these discussions.

Officers for next year were also elected at this meeting. Carroll Clark, local council member, also served on the nominating commit-

CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF OF SALINE

COUNTY

DEMOCRATIC

The people of Saline County, I am convinced, after talking with many of them, want a Sheriff who will enforce the law, and who will use Common Sense, and sound judgment in helping people solve their problems, and who will protect the lives and property of the people of Saline County. I know that the people of Saline County believe in, and want, good government, clean men in office, and men who are not controlled by any group or clique.

As Sheriff of Saline County, I intend to enforce the law. Whether it be for rape, murder, robbery, larceny, or whether it be for violating the Liquor Law, or violating the law with reference to the operation of Slot Machines, or whether it be for violating the law against gambling, or gambling devices.

Connie Mack Urges A's Stay In Philadelphia

NEW YORK (P) — A personal dramatic plea by Connie Mack that the ball club he managed for 50 years be kept in Philadelphia was expected to fall on some deaf ears position. today when the American League opens its fourth "showdown" meeting on the fate of the Philadelphia Athletics

An authoritative source reported that the owners of the other league By Al Capp clubs probably will disapprove the sale of the Mack family's stock in the club to a syndicate of eight Philadelphia businessmen.

That would leave the Macks only the alternative of selling their stock to Arnold Johnson, Chicago real estate man who heads a group desiring to transfer the Athletics to Kansas City

"Mr. Mack," 92 years young and beloved by millions of baseball fans throughout the nation as the "grand old man" of the game, has steered clear of the bitter wrangling that has been going on for a month about the sale of the financially stricken Athletics. But the tall lean man who dreamed always of "one more pennant" now is anxious that his club stay in the same nome town it has known since 1901 Mack Favors Sale

"I am in favor of the sale to the syndicate," said Mack. "I talked to Roy and Earle (his sons and fellow stockholders) and we are solidly behind the sale."

Owner Dan Topping of the New York Yankees, on the other hand, s solidly against the sale and in favor moving the club to Kansas

"For the good of the league, the club should be transferred," said "Baseball has been no Topping. good in Philadelphia for 15 years and it will get a lot worse before it gets any better. We're in this as a business and when we get position such as the Kansas City interests have made, it seems to me we're foolish to pass it by.'

Just as solidly, however, owners Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators and Walter O. (Spike) Briggs of the Detroit Tigers are in favor of keeping the club in Philadelphia.

Edward W. Reed

A comparative young man who will be remembered by Harrisburg residents as a former history and economics teacher at HTHS is now president of the City National bank at Fort Smith, Ark.

A native of Galatia, where he was born Sept. 5, 1914, Edward W. Reed is the son of William E. and Ota Reed, who still reside in that community.

Reed assumed his duties as president of Ft. Smith's (pop. 47,000) City National on Feb. 1, 1953, after a commendable record of achievement in the field of education and as a member of the armed services during World War II.

Reared in a typical American community of the '20s, along with his two sisters, Reed attended the Galatia grade and high school, graduating from the latter in 1931.

Reed accepted the position of history and economics teacher in the local high school. This he held from 1937 to 1941. Reed left Harrisburg in 1941 to become an assistant professor at the University of Louisville, Louisville, Ky. He held this post until 1943 when he entered the armed services.

Reed served in the U. S. Navy from April 1943 until November 1945 and saw action on the U. S. S. White Plains and the U. S. S. Yorktown. He was authorized to wear nine battle stars on his service ribbons, plus two presidential unit citations. He rose to the rank of Lt. Commander before discharge. charge.

Following his war service years Reed worked on his doctor's de-gree at the U. of I., completing this in 1947. Upon receiving his Ph. D., he was immediately employed as a professor of economics at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Ark. He continued in this position until accepting his present duties.

He holds membership in the following professional organizations: American Economics association, National Tax association, American Association of University of Professors, Southern Economic association, American Bankers association, and Arkansas Bankers association. In addition, he is active in the Ft. Smith Consistory, Amrita Grotto, Ft. Smith Temple Lodge A. F. and A. M., and the Shrine and Scimitar Temple at Little Rock, Ark. He is also affiliated with Alpha Kappa Psi and Lamba Chi Alpha.

Besides his professional and fraternal work, he finds time to participate in civic groups such as the Arkansas Committee for Public Schools, Knife and Fork club, Rotary and Noon Civics clubs, all of Ft. Smith. He is a member of the board of directors, Ft. Smith Chamber of Commerce, and the Arkansas Joint Tax Revision committee. He is on the Airport Advisory Board at Ft. #### Democrats Plan 'Task Force' If Victorious

WASHINGTON M-Special "task forces" probably will be set up to draft a detailed legislative program if Democrats take control of the 84th Congress, it was learned

Appointment of the groups is expected during the special Senate session which convenes Nov. 8, Democratic strategists said. The task forces" would draft detailed policies along lines already laid down by House Democratic Leader Sam Rayburn (Tex.) and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.).

Johnson has announced that the Democratic Policy Committee and the prospective Democratic committee chairmen will meet on the program during the November ses-

Brighter Colors

The silver streak motif is continued with chrome streaks that run along the crown of each rear fender fin and terminate at the massive tail lamps. Dual bumper impact bars combined with the graceful wing-and-circle emblem on the trunk lid give new beauty and distinction to the back of the 1955 Pontiac.

Pontiac colors for 1955 show the influence of the public's taste for lighter and brighter tones. "Vogue" two-toning which brings the color of the top of the car down to the middle of the car body, adds greatly to the streamlined appearance of the new Pontiacs.

Body interiors are color-keyed to the new exterior paints. The instrument panel mounts aircrafttype instruments at 90 degrees to the driver's vision with control knobs recessed for added safety. Pontiac's exclusive safety - are speedometer indicates speed with a continuous red curve.

Two Series The glove compartment, centrally located within easy reach of Betty Motsinger, Mrs. Muriel both driver and front seat passengers, has been designed with an tin, Miss Betty Toth of Harrisburg, additional function. When open, the compartment door acts as a Beasley tray with recesses for cups. The 1955 Pontiacs will be available in two new series, the Star Series, having a 124 inch wheelbase and the Chieftain Series with a wheelbase of 122 inches. Dimensionally, sedan and coupe models are 234 inches lower in overall height. A two-door station wagon has been added to the line Pontiac body styles this year. Station wagons are as much as 6 inches lower. All models have lower hood lines exposing both front fenders to the driver's vision. Hip and shoulder room have been substantially increased by redesigning the car interior.

In all, 12 body styles are offered this year by Pontiac.

The new Strato-Streak V-8 engine represents Pontiac's answer to the automotive industry's goal of developing an engine with durability and low-cost dependability and with the power and quick response that modern drivers demand. The Strato-Streak released this year, after years of development work and over 3,000,000 miles of testing on dynamometers and under all types of road conditions, has a displacement of 287 cubic inches. Its displacement and high compression ratio of 8:1 give it high power output especially at traffic speeds where instant response is needed. The engine develops 180 horsepower, reaching maximum torque

t low engine speed. The Star Chief series, Pontiac's bid for luxury minded customers, is 210.2 inches in overall length on a 124 inch wheelbase. The Custom Star Chief model is available in four-door sedan and Catalina The Deluxe Star Chief is produced in four-door sedan and convertible.

The Chieftain series, with 122 inch wheelbase and 203.2 inches overall length, is available in 870 and 860 models. The Chieftain 870 body styles include the Catalina Coupe, two and four-door sedans, and four-door station wagons. The Chieftain 860 comes in two and four-door sedans and two and four door station wagons

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR

County Treasurer

Four years ago we urged Paul Spangler to become a candidate for Sheriff upon a strict law enforcement platform.

Four years ago you elected Paul Spangler your Sheriff upon that platform.

In opposition to strong organizations and selfish individuals he set forth to carry out his platform and he stopped the illegal sale of liquor and gambling in this county.

Mr. Spangler's actions as sheriff of this county have been endorsed by many organizations and by individuals of both political parties interested in keeping our county a clean, decent place in which to live and rear our children.

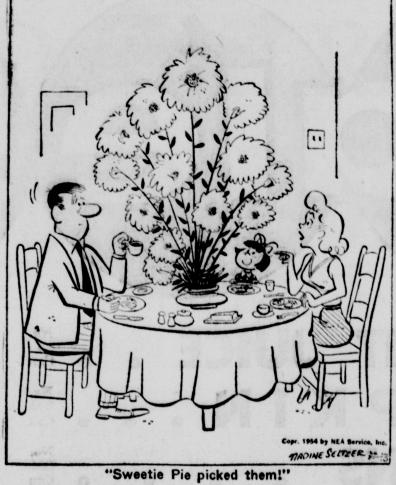

Mr. Spangler is enforcing the law today as he did when he started. He is going out of office clean.

Mr. Spangler can not succeed himself as Sheriff and is now a candidate for County Treasurer. We feel that he is entitled to the support of the law abiding citizens of this county for the office of County Treasurer.

The election of Paul Spangler will be an incentive to all future officers of this county to do their duty. His defeat will offer an excuse for future officers to neglect their duties.

We recommend the election of Paul Spangler as County Treasurer upon his record.

On the top of a flat rock in the middle of the creek was his own revolver. Droplets of spray glittered in sunlight. Its muzzle pointed directly toward the hole through which the creek found its path of exit to the lake.

Jim waded in. The water was cold, but with the heated overflow from the swimming pool on the other side of the rock barrier, it did not have the deadly cramping chill as it swirled against his legs. He pushed past the flat rock, stumbling over water-rounded stones, and reached the cavern entrance.

The path he followed ended abruptly in cold, damp stone. He left his rock path, waded into this new pool, found the undersurface opening which let water gush thru. A large enough opening so the force of water was not too great for passage.

He filled his lungs and dove be-neath the surface. He inched along the passage, clawing at any projection from the water-smoothed walls which would give scant handholds. His ears were roaring, his lungs bursting with the spent oxygen burned in the effort of his progress. He kept his eyes open even against the pressure of moving water which sent an ache clear to clamped around a slender wrist.

There was no warning. There was nothing but a flash of shock. There was a vague dream world of strange comfort and quick mo-tion. There was another and more violent shock.

Jim found himself back in the blinding sunlight, pressed against the ledge from which he had fallen into the first pool. But that jolt and the shock of light had cleared his head enough so pain registered. Pain and determination.

He pulled himself into shallow He pulled himself into shallow water, splashed along the creek, fell full length on the bank near his jeep. He coughed, stretched, managed at last to replace some water with life-giving air. He pulled himself to his knees, began crawling toward the jeep. His strength came back quickly, let him get erect, into the car. He started the motor left the jeep. started the motor, left the jeep in low gear and drove up the winding road. His panting breath seemed to keep time with the snarl of the motor.

Jim did not overestimate his ability. He knew he did not have the strength to try again against the current. But from the other side, with the current.

The idea of a possible passage-way through the huge rock base of Lion's Head had occurred to him, of course. It had been something to be checked, just as the possibility of a ledge along the base of the cliff near the lake must be checked. Obviously such a possibility had occurred to Nancy. He drove faster now, and he still

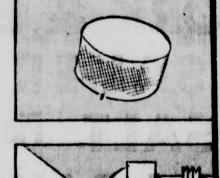

Perhaps Nancy, with her small Perhaps Nancy, with her small er but strong young body, would have been able to negotiate the passage. Perhaps she had been able to control herself, had not stood up so quickly as to knock herself silly against rock ceiling as he believed he had done. Per-haps he would find her, dripping and thrilled with the idea of her contribution, at the end of the creek near the heated swimming Pool.

He would not let himself think of Nancy caught in some under-water crevice, fighting out the last of her life in a useless struggle against unfeeling rock and surging water.

He drove fast, but the minutes were ages long until he reached the swimming pool, deserted now, and left his jeep. This time at least he did have the forethought to take a flashlight along from the glove compartment.

At this end of the cauern, there was a well-worn path at the side for the first 50 feet. His light shone down into the translucent water, showed innumerable fish darting around in the glow. The path showed signs of many feet, but not of recent passing of wet feet. There
